The light which passes out of the tube produces the laser beam. Laser light is highly directional because of the parallel mirrors. The laser beam is very small, typically around 1 2 mm in diameter. The light is monochromatic, coherent, and very intense. The concentrated power of laser light is used in a variety of ways.

A ruby laser is a solid-state laser that uses a synthetic ruby crystal as its gain medium. The first working laser was a ruby laser made by Theodore H. "Ted" Maiman at Hughes Research Laboratories on May 16, 1960. Ruby lasers produce pulses of coherent visible light at a wavelength of 694.3 nm, which is a deep red color. Typical ruby laser pulse lengths are on the order of a millisecond.

I am not into sci fi with my choice of reading, but happily A Ruby Beam of Light is not about aliens, far away planets, and space ships. Therefore it's about real people and a discovery of a scientific method of destroying nuclear missiles after they are launched with the concurrent effect of rendering all combustion in the world to stop working.
